Amidst the chaos that has seen global stock market indices tumble a host of Asia's hedge fund managers have managed to excel, and so duly rewarded at AsiaHedge's annual performance awards.

The AsiaHedge Awards, held at Sky 100 in Tsim Sha Tsui, Hong Kong on November 29, saw well-known hedge fund managers, such as Segantii, Greenwood Asset Management and Platinum Asset Management, as well as newer names, including Gen2 Partners and Brilliance Capital Management, pick up gongs.

All the shortlisted and eventual winners were decided by a quantitative process, which aims to recognise the two primary aims of hedge funds – to manage volatility and to deliver positive returns for investors. The long-established methodology focuses on the risk-adjusted performance of funds, with our aim being to let the numbers do the talking.

The top award, Fund of the Year, was hotly contested between funds across spanning multiple strategies but the eventual winner was Gen 2 Partners' KS Asia Absolute Return Fund, which generated 36.15% with a Sharpe Ratio of 2.27.

Picking up the Management Firm of the Year award was Regal Funds Management, which was shortlisted for multiple awards due to the excellent performance across its suite of fund offerings.
